THE FUTURE...

 \mathbf{Y} oung people entering a particular school with an eagerness and willingness to serve and a mind motivated to learn-this was our contribution . . . gradually but progressively forgetting ourselves and realizing the term "total patient care" manifesting itself in our work . . . meeting the not infrequent frustrations with a mature outlook, ever endeavoring to derive some good from our failures . . . making friends never to be forgotten, for friendship is cemented by the bonds of common goals . . . attending lectures which sometimes deviated from the subject in question, but always made truth seem clearer and perhaps easier to grasp and to make it our own . . . having our minds and our bodies as our primary workshops for the tasks which lay before us . . . our happiness being derived from seemingly insignificant things—a baby's smile, a "thank you"-this was our way of life . . . knowing and seeing and working with people as total individuals and remembering that their aspirations and frustrations were not too different from ours . . . not being able to answer all the questions concerning the mysteries of life, but certainly being richer from our experiences . . . as a wheel, the imprint of our past has been made, but much of the path lies as vet unmarred—this is the future. . .

We gained valuable experience from our clinical practice.

The Skull was often the place for many a coffee break between classes.

THROUGH THE YEARS FROM

Lab sessions gave us the opportunity to put into practice what we had learned in class.

In the library we found a quiet place to study and many sources of new and varied information.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

DR. WILLIAM R. KAY Student Health Director

THE student health service has been expanded over the years to provide comprehensive medical care for all students. Every student has come in contact with Doctor William Kay, student health physician, and Miss Edith West, student health nurse. Services provided include general physical examinations, semiannual chest x-rays, immunizations, and laboratory tests and medical care when indicated. The student health services plays an important role in keeping MCV students healthy and alert.

MISS EDITH WEST, R.N.

he vast knowledge a physician must have in order to take his rightful place of service in his world has become a living part of the young man who leaves the corridors of his Alma Mater.

The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night.

. . . Longfellow

MEDICINE

DEDICATION

It is with grateful appreciation for his untiring efforts to guide, teach, and stimulate us with his insight, his skill, his experience, and his conclusions that we the Senior Class in Medicine respectfully didicate this section of the annual to Dr. Frederick B. Mandeville.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

HAVING recovered, in part, from the high mortality and morbidity of the Junior Final Exams., we embarked upon our Senior year of school here at the Obstetrical College of Virginia. To the wards and clinics we went, having much more self-confidence than last year at this time, dressed in our whites, carrying our bags and little black brains in our pocket. Yes, our pearl books soon became our most trusted and loyal friends—containing everything from the normal serum applesauce levels to the weekly football card.

We still missed Hennigar at the C. P. C.'s but Ringling Bros., Barnum and Hume met each Saturday morning to spice up things, not to mention play by play descriptions of Coleman's 763 Wookie operations. Although we had to take call at home or work nights and week ends we still had to send the Dean a letter explaining why we needed space in the "goat" lot. Seems like after room had been alotted to the dentist's tennis courts, the new turnpike, and parking spaces for dental, pharmacy and physical therapy students, nurses, secretaries, housekeeping and building and grounds, there just wasn't enough room for medical students. Meanwhile "King" and his trusted dog, Sgt. Miller, guarded the lot diligently.

Speculation ran high as to who was going to be the new professor of Medicine, but the big question that we repeated to each other all year was, "Where va going to intern? Who did va rank first?"

It is with much nostalgia that we think back over these four rapid, crowded, bustling years of hard work, fun, pleasant and unpleasant memories, realizing that—although Medical School is about to end—the study of medicine has just begun.

m OW}$ long ago was that September morning when we first became clinical clerks, or when we first donned that majestic emblem of advanced standing, the white jacket? How long ago did we first hear those West Virginia dialects talking incessantly about sports? At times it seems years, then again it seems only moments ago. So much has happened since then . . .

First, we mastered the art-of-the-jacket. The art of cramming into its pockets (as an essential minimum): Stethoscope, tourniquet, percussion hammer, pencil (lead), pencil (multicolored), pen (fountain), pen (ballpoint), penlight, black pearlbook, and a synopsis or handbook covering the current service.

Also important to the Eve-been-around-type was the accumulation and proud exhibition of jacket stains. "Got that changing a dressing in Surgery Clinic This is plaster from Ortho-That brown there is from Pediatrics-And this is REAL BLOOD!" (This usually indicates he got in the way of a Resident who was clearing a clot out of a needle.) And finally the grass stains of those on Psychiatry while the weather was still warm.

Before long we were caught up in the hospital routine. Stats-CBS & diff-first up- the remarkable vital capacity of patients on Pediatrics-sickle cell-quiz conference-systolic murmur-the thrill of making a correct diagnosishistories- reaching for the true conjugate that "Doctor" on your name-PX at McGuire-stay awake at X-ray conference or miss the jokes—rounds—seminars—urinalysis—and slide projection (the most exacting art of all).

Literary achievement became important. The longer one could put pen to paper without spelling an entire word became the test of true greatness. Soon it was ED, WN, CM with PMI in 5th LICS, MCL and inf., eyes PERLA, abd LKSNF. This may have led to eventual obliteration of written language had it not been for an occasional test. But eventually the hand that shook so on drawing that first blood sample was an efficient part of the pre-dawn Vampire Service on Ward D. And as the year drew to a close, with one eye on the white pants that go with that little jacket and the other eye on exams, the class was stumbling about, bleary-eyed and weary, and mumbling into their coffee that age-old question, "Can anyone read Cecil, Christopher, and Eastman in one week?"

"THESE are the times that try men's souls." We can't help but repeat this quotation at the beginning of this reminiscence. Surely no other line could quite express how we have felt during this past year. We are not dismayed. Don't let that idea cross your mind. It is only that one year has been more than just twelve months as far as our life is concerned. We have aged more than just a year. To be sure, we have not lost any of our bravado, our desire, or our get up and go. Just let us say that, "Medical School, like Hell, is not easily conquered." Yet, we still walk with the consolation that the harder the conflict the more sweet the triumph. We have worked hard this past year and we know that our work and our hopes will be fulfilled in direct proportion to each other. We haven't had time to leave our mark on these hallowed halls, but with each passing day that time draws closer. We will not be denied. Two years have passed and two years remain. This thought reminds us of still another saying. This time we will modify it to say how we really feel. "Cheer up the BEST is yet to come." Now, we are, so to speak, done with the basic principles of medicine, but we know that the basic principles are not done with us.

Our real hope at this time is to bring forth the fruits of our instructors' efforts in planting the seeds of doubt in our minds; for from these seeds we can hope to grow. We respect faith, but it is doubt that leads us to strive for an understanding.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

THE Class of '61 would like to express deepest appreciation to the faculty for helping us to learn those facts so important for future success in medicine:

Never to steal a calvaria

The meaning of goo, glob, and gunk

Always to bring a dictionary to lab

Why massage won't make hair grow

To doubt the authenticity of posted grades

The frequency of lymphatic drainage on exams

Christmas parties are fun

Never to leave lab before 4:15

How to get cut off at C. I.

The advantages of art 101

The necessity of pearl diving

How to say "huh"

The joys of big league ping-pong

The structure of King Arthur's Castle

How to stuff in one's shirt with female med students in the hall

Never to sleep in Dr. Burk's Histology review

The decreasing numbers seen in labs due to Uncle Joe's new bowling machine

The sound of colored pencils hitting the floor during lecture

Never to take home brain stems

Tick-tock doesn't refer to the sound of a clock

With this wealth of knowledge We've absorbed so well,

It's easy to see

Next year will be hell.

ducation of the public and health teaching are the greatest tasks that lie ahead for the modern doctor of dentistry. Fear need no longer be a part of "that visit to the dentist." Due to the unfailing efforts of these members of the health team, many people will have the opportunity to live happier, healthier lives.

DENTISTRY

DEDICATION

"The Senior Dental Class respectfully dedicates this portion of the 1958 X-Ray to Dr. Richard Lee Simpson, Jr. Beneficent devotion to dentistry and its students is but a facet of his true stature as the perfect gentleman."

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

 $m A^{SWE}$ prepare to step out into a new world to see our ambitions fulfilled, the memory of these years at MCV now becomes a treasure of memorable occasions.

This, the last small class, has had its share of embarrassing situations—setting teeth in the wrong arch, swallowing of finished inlays, extractions not indicated, exposures, etc. Through error we learn, but we'll always be indebted for our clinical guidance ever available and so greatly needed at first.

Each of us possesses a volume of individual memories, but could a few remarks be sufficiently thought provoking now and in the future? We might remember our projectionist, Malbon, showing a scene of Bill Pearlman developing in the dark room while "Windy" Hall provides the narrative and Jones sings a sad ballad in accompaniment. "Embryo" Rorrer will be remembered for his antics, fine insight concerning girls from the Azores, and his always willing assistance to Boyd, Radcliffe, Hearne, Tucker, and McGuire in difficult lab procedures. Maybe you can hear Wilson and Snead inquiring of Dodson about how to acquire and manage a large family.

Now, as Seniors, firm resolutions are being made for future years, and as we go our various ways let us not forget the real friendships that existed throughout this long yet brief stay at MCV. The decision and duty is ours to resolve to keep up the high standards of the profession which have been impressed upon us by the faculty. To these men of high ideals we submit our gratitude for guidance and patience.

Our paths have not always been easy ones, and we are frightened at the thought of ignorance, but by realizing that superior training has been provided, by being eager for new knowledge and always hopeful of mastering the essentials, we move onward to command recognition as members of the health team in the future.

WE HAVE survived the Sophomore year and our roll call has remained unchanged. Physiology, Doctor Henegar's Pathology, and all the courses that put fear into Sophomores are in the past.

The clinic has exhibited more challenges than we expected but we have met them with the aid of patient professors. We have been embarrassed to answer the question, "Am I your first patient?" to restore the wrong tooth, and muscle trim the acrylic tray—without the compound impression. Some of us have been caught with our dirty hands in the cotton container or a general chart mixup. These incidences have been humorous to us but obstacles with which all Juniors must contend and conquer.

The initial shock of the clinic is over for our class and now we will settle down to learning and enjoying the practice of dentistry.

WITH a countdown of seventy-two, the Sophomore Class of Wood Memorial was launched into the second orbit of Dental Education. The first stage rocket, a powerful gold plugger, brilliantly defied the gravitational pull of Operative Dentistry, but the polymorphonuclear leukocyte storms of the Pathologysphere dealt several crushing blows to the ego of our class. The realms of Crown and Bridge, Prosthetics, Orthodontia, Physiology, Pharmacology, Roentgenology, Genetics, and Dental Materials were explored as our rocket soared into new territory. Despite the fact that those areas gave us plenty to think about, they could not deter our journey upward.

As we started to orbit, many interesting phenomena were presented to us, but perhaps the most startling discovery we made was the relationship of Dentistry to the other Sciences. Dentistry is not a separate entity. It is a coalescence of knowledge belonging to each of the scientific fields: it is a part of the whole of Science, and manifests itself to the student only when he has acquired the ability to comprehend Science as a whole. Contrary to the belief of many, this is not an age of specialization. A profession such as Dentistry requires the knowledge of certain specific facts and technical skills, but the circumscribed or stereotyped mind is of no value to progressive dentistry.

Our class has enjoyed a successful Sophomore year, and we are looking forward to the clinic with anticipation. We hope the forthcoming venture will be as interesting as the past two years.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

THE day of September 11, 1957, began a new and extremely important chapter in the personal histories of eighty aspiring individuals seeking the coveted title of Doctor of Dental Surgery. This disorganized group was to become, with time, an integrated, functioning body known as the Class of 1961.

To many this date was the culmination of years of dreams. To others it was a ledge in the climb toward the heights of a professional career. But, nevertheless, many bound-up hopes and anticipations were entangled in this amorphous group.

To many this date was the culmination of years of dreams. To others it was a ledge in the climb toward the heights of a professional career. But, nevertheless, many bound-up hopes and anticipations were entangled in this amorphous group.

After registration and the Opening Convocation came the buying of books and equipment along with the familiar reply, "You can get it at the bookstore." Checks flew like poker chips.

Quickly we were within the cryptic vault of medical knowledge. It was with hesitation that we scanned the new and shiny pages of the huge Gray's Anatomy, soon to be stained by the adipose tissue of our constant companion, the cadaver.

As fall grew older we grew wiser. Difficult terminology which abounded in our new courses became familiar to us. We found that worry was unavoidable, but served to emphasize the importance of these courses. The new language became a part of us.

Early in the fall we got our first taste of fraternity life at the Medical College of Virginia. In observance of a new restriction we were unable to pledge a fraternity our first year. This only meant, however, that the fraternities must support us instead of vice versa.

With the end of the second quarter came also the end of Gross Anatomy, Neurology, and Biochemistry. Who can remember such things as the bregma, conus medullaris or cholesterol? These were to be "salted away" for the national boards.

The spring quarter has rounded out a year of effort, with last minute cramming and final grades. May we all be blessed by letters low in the alphabet.

A year of common and shared experience is now behind us. What began as a loose assemblage of students has now become a coordinated body—the Class of 1961.

any mysteries of life and the living are answered through an understanding of the chemical makeup of the human being. The many reactions that the body and mind may have to drugs and compounds must be understood by the pharmacist who takes a life in his hands as he prepares a life-saving medication.

DEDICATION

The Graduating Class of '58 respectfully dedicates this section of the yearbook to our teacher, counselor, and friend, Professor Frank P. Pitts.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

A LONG and difficult four year campaign is drawing to a close for the graduating class of 1938. It is interesting to note that of the original sixty-four students in our Freshman Class only thirty-five will be graduated this year. The empty ranks, however, were filled by able and willing(?) transfer students.

Our Freshman year was a hectic, but interesting one. The ol' colonel kept us busy balancing equations and playing "guess what's in the bottle." Also, many hours were spent in biology lab dissecting frogs and grasshoppers, poring over Patton's "Embryology of the Chick," and raising wild virgin files.

A wiser class of Sophomores gathered together in the fall of 1955, but, alas, many of us were no match for Jackson J. Taylor's physics department or Fciser, Smith and Feiser, Incorporated.

The Junior year brought with it a class in "The Art of Pencil Titrations," under the leadership of Dr. Andrako. This was the year we were also exposed to a most informative course in volatile oils under the tutelage of Dr. Neuroth. Perhaps, most important of all, Dr. Kresanowski impressed us with the importance of maintaining a professional appearance and attitude. Keep those shoes shined even if the soles do have holes in them and wear those ties in spite of the gravy stains.

the soles do have holes in them and wear those ties in spite of the gravy stains.

The Senior year has taught us much. We've learned to "tink and vishulize." Twenty years from now, even if we can't remember a single chemical structure from organic medicinal we'll certainly recall a few of Dr. Hartung's jokes (or will we)? This is the year of pharmacy math exams, Senior practicals, and our trip to Parke Davis and Upjohn Laboratories. Most important of all, this is the year of our graduation. Hallelujah!

IUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

 $A^{H!}$ Junior year here at last. It looked so easy to us as Sophomores: little did we know what we really were in for—looks are deceiving. . .

After spending weeks in lab rolling and molding suppositories of all sizes, shapes and forms we feel that we have perfected our pharmaceutical skill, and will become top pharmacists. Hunting for bugs in Micro was like hunting for game in the deepest jungles of Africa. The passing of end points, standardizing and restandardizing stock solutions and awaiting the return of grades of the unknowns in Quant, has given us a bad case of nerves. Anatomy has taught us to be alert and on our toes in order to dodge flying missiles such as tape worms, eve-balls and lizards.

We've worked hard and had lots of fun with parties, picnics, and even the elections of officers.

In the crystal ball we don't see the easy road as was expected our Sophomore year, but our long awaited goal is in sight.

THE Sophomore year 1957-58 has been one that will be long remembered by its members. It was a year in which knowledge and ignorance were at the greatest of odds, only to be overcome by sheer frustration.

Only once in a lifetime could one bear the task of interpreting the "law of supply and demand," organic "mechanisms," and the principles of Bernoulli, Archimedes and Pascal. Since English, physics, organic chemistry, economics and sociology were not sufficient, there were also thrown in a few courses such as pharmacy math, American pharmacy and inorganic pharmaceutical chemistry, which were designed to stimulate our "idle minds."

It was also during this year that we were able to become more familiar with our chosen profession by affiliation with such organizations as our state and national pharmaceutical associations.

Although there was always some studying to be done, many of us found time in which to take part in fraternity and other kinds of social activities.

In looking back on this year many may talk of it as one of Shakespeare's characters " 'tis not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door; but 'tis enough, 'twill serve."

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

ON September 10, 1957, McGuire Hall was cluttered with eighty-four nervous, chattering, excited individuals, who were bewildered at the prospect of college life. These individuals, who now comprise the Freshman Class of the School of Pharmacy, had descended from the highest echelon of high school Seniors to the lower echelon of college Freshmen, and now start the tedious climb back to prominence.

This climb has been found littered with the frogs, grasshoppers, chicks, and genes of biology; the isotopes, formulas, and unknowns of chemistry; the history, background, and dates of pharmacy; and the grammar and angles of English and "trig."

The days and nights, which have been crammed with endless studies, have been more than compensated for by the various types of entertainment, sponsored by the faculty, classes, and the several fraternities. What was at first pain and drudgery in these studies, has been molded into an understanding and obsession by the guidance of our professors and instructors.

We Freshmen, who have learned to study, look forward with anticipation and anxiety to the Sophomore year, which is proclaimed the toughest of the four steps.

The young girl's dream of softly lighted corridors, of white uniform and cap, and of service, becomes reality only when the young girl learns through nursing education to realize and accept the many facets of responsibility, joy and sorrow that accompany this dream. The profession of nursing builds character and an emotional maturity through learning to care for the patient as a person.

NURSING

"A friendly smile . . . a guiding hand . . . a willingness to serve whenever needed. . . "

Not through obligation but from a sincere feeling of appreciation; we, the Senior Class of 1958, are honored to dedicate our section of the X-Rxy to one who has loyally shared our jeys and disappointments with a smile of pleasure or an encouraging word, our class sponsor, Miss Jexy Hayter.

[&]quot;The token is small . . . the feeling great."

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

IN THE fall of 1954, a group of determined young ladies from all parts of the country and all walks of life arrived at MCV with a common goal—To Be a Nurse!

The following years were packed with unforgettable events. The discouragements and unending studies of the first year were replaced by hospital experiences and the thrill of at last doing patient care. There were other milestones; the addition of eleven "New Girls," capping, clinic conferences; O. R. experiences, many romances and marriages. The fitting climax of three years of being underclassmen was reached in the spring of '57 with the receiving of our BLACK BANDS.

The sun must have shown brighter on September 9, 1957 because that marked the beginning of our final struggle. Clinically speaking, this year brought the unforgettable adventures on the Seventh Floor and the "Learning Experiences" with the "Foreign Legion," the tribulations and joys of pediatrics and our trips into the county for public health. Unforgettable was the excitement, hard work and cute interns in the emergency room. Otherwise speaking, Senior year brought more romances and the Christmas lights were dimmed by the sparkling diamonds.

At first we counted the months, then the weeks and finally the days and as time will—it passed and we found ourselves once again in procession; this time for the last appearance as MCV Students.

The thoughts were varied on graduation day. There was joy mingled with sadness, pride mixed with humility, but in all a new dedication manifested itself as we said a fervent "Thank You" to all those who had helped us realize our ambition—TO BE A NURSE!

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

MEMORIES of blue uniforms and carefree cleaning days were replaced by white uniforms, caps and special services. A decrease in size was more than compensated for by an increase in spirit and closeness; we now acted and thought in unity—new horizons were opening and we responded quietly and eagerly. Somehow we managed to squeeze in a few extra-curricular activities between our class hours and our duty hours, such as, the Junior Pharmacy and student nurses' picnic and a casual bridge game or two.

The fall session passed quickly and then came the Christmas holidays and many DIAMONDS; the answer to so many a young nurse's dream. Gone were the tired feet, varicose veins and backaches; everyone must plan for the future—when to get married? When vacation would come? And where to be sent for Public Health?

Spring brought a revival of romance and a downfall of learning, but after the initial shock was over everyone got back on the right path and pursued an education. A new burst of energy came forth, so while it lasted we planned one of the biggest events of the year—the Junior-Senior breakfast.

The year passed rapidly and quite a few of us exchanged marriage vows for the carefree single life and old responsibilities for new ones. There were achievements yet to reach but now we were in possession of the ability and the knowledge to separate the goals from the dreams and the accomplishments from the wishes. We are the Class of 1959 and We Are On Our Way!

Procedure No. II

Primary Purpose: To Become Juniors Secondary Purpose: To Become Nurses

Requisites: Assorted textbooks, staff of nursing instructors with patience and determination, hospital complete with patients, thirty-six hours per day, various miscellaneous items, and class of sophisticates who eagerly proclaim that we're Sophomores.

MAIN STEPS

- 1. Skip happily to book store with list and money, and obtain books.
- 2. Take books back to dormitory, place on shelf, admite pretty colors of covers,
- 3. Attend lectures when convenient, 4. Cultivate interested expression on your face regardless of your thoughts. It
- may be useful. 5. Discuss problems in jam sessions in various girls' rooms or in dormitory halls.
- 6. You will find bridge to be a very popular pastime.7. Monotony can be refieved by builday parties, or just parties.
- 8. Go out on dates ad lib.
- 9. After a couple of months, add your test grades and find your average. 10. After quarterly exams, repeat steps 2 through 9.
- 11. Read procedures in manual, if not rushed. It's interesting-
- 12. More difficult procedures can be practiced on classmates.
- 13. Form habit of going to library regularly.
- 14. Attend fraternity parties when possible,
- 15. Endeavor to sleep several hours nightly.
- 16. Assure Freshmen they can never live through Sophomore year.
- 17. When procedure is completed, heave big sigh.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- 1. Do not allow dismay at their size, number, and price to show on your face. 2. Investigate contents when bored,
- 3. Sit on front row in anatomy, or maintain friendship with someone who does.
- S. Sit of from the analogous, of manifest including white some documents of the control of the stationery. Knutting in class is frowned upon.
 Best discussions are held the night before a Freshman test.
- 6. Every well-rounded person plays bridge.
- 7. Too much studying is tiresome.
- 8. The well-rounded student does not study all the time.
- 9. Almost anyone can show you where to find the panic button.
- 10. Someday you'll learn. Maybe,
- 11. Assure patients it is all in the name of science.
- 12. Exercise caution. The shortage of nurses is acute
- 13. Male students can often be found there.
- 14. It takes all kinds of people to make a world.
- 15. It is embarrassing to snore in class. 16. You did, but of course, you're different.
- 17. Proclaim to all the world that we're Juniors. Right? Right!

During the performance of the foregoing procedure a few regrettable amputations were unavoidable, but grafting of a new group during the summer quarter and several others later in the procedure, was successful. It is now time to begin Procedure No. III, the Primary Purpose of which is to become Seniors. . .

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

ONTUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1957, an entirely new experience began for the majority of the Freshman class of the MCV School of Nursing. A few had been to college previously, but most of us knew practically nothing about life on a college campus.

The first few weeks passed very slowly for most of us. We made new friends and were made to feel as welcome as possible, but I'm sure that at one time or another all sixty-one of us realized what nostalgia was.

Finally, near the end of November the examination schedule was posted. After the last exam on Wednesday morning Cabaniss Hall became a place of confusion and excitement. We were going home! The four days of rest and pleasure ended much too early, and we were soon back at the same routine. Christmas came and went, and the New Year was welcomed in. At this time of the year we can look back over the first months of our college life and recall the many hours of happiness and heartache we have shared. A friend is never too busy to listen to another's troubles. Equally eager is everyone to share the happiness of one another.

Since September each one of us has collected souvenirs of occasions whose memories will exist forever. Some of these occasions have been sad, but the good times we have shared certainly outnumber the unhappy ones. We realize that our opinion of MCV has been made more favorable by the members of the faculty and the remainder of the student body along with all the personnel with whom we associate. We wish to thank each one of you for your patience and understanding. This year has been an enjoyable one, and we are looking forward to three more years equally enjoyable.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

DEDICATION

To one who has helped to make our Senior year a success as teacher and friend, we dedicate our section with pride.—Miss Jean Thibaut

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

 $H^{\rm ISTORY}$ was made this year—Sputnick rose—and almost as great, thirty-one of us have followed what we considered our vocation, into the medical world of muscles.

For two years we've beat the WALK and DON'T WALK signs of the Broad Street area. They brought us from the lectures and excercises to the frogs, dogs, rats, and cadavers. We feel as though these words have been an almost vital part of our training.

The twilight of '57 became the dawn of '58 (during holiday time), marking the final lap of learning the theory and techniques of our profession. Hours were put into the half-hour quizzes and two hour (?) exams. We learned parlor tricks, the importance of the "interstines," and what seemed like ten thousand muscles.

The Special Angels, who are a silent part of this profession, learned that "You Are My Epinephron" was just as meaningful. At times we found it necessary to mix learning with pleasure. We took breaks from the books, devoting the time to Hitchcock, Maverick, and Gunsmoke, not to mention the parties, picnics and showers.

We have vivid memories of all the 'ologies and we feel the wiser for it. Our hands and minds have been sensitized to Physical Therapy. These words have grown in meaning these past two years. A meaning that was planted as a seed in '56, it grew through 1957 as a blossom being nourished by adept instructors; in the future we shall reap the harvest in the field.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

WITH the arrival of September came the realization of a dream we seventeen college Juniors had—the beginning of our Physical Therapy training. How we looked forward to those first few days; meeting each other and our professors, finding out the courses we were to take, and starting classes! A familiar opening phrase heard upon meeting was, "Where are you from?" And, surprisingly for such a small class, we had students representing eight different states, Washington, D. C., and the Virgin Islands.

What will we remember from this year? It might be any number of things.

Our first social gathering—a school picnic in Byrd Park. What fun we had playing volleyball and baseball, cating frankfurters, and singing songs.

Physics class—the eternal struggle to solve all those homework problems. And our class get-togethers the night before a test, all of us trying to learn everything at once.

Histology, our first six weeks' course—such a short time to cover 900 pages!

Thermotherapy labs—and those wonderful diathermy treatments, especially so on cold winter days.

Hydrotherapy class—who said P.T. School isn't like a resort?

Our lab "uniforms" -shorts, halters, and smocks for the girls; shorts for the fellows.

Working on the wards the first half of the year, and starting work in the clinics the second half.

The first edition of the Baruch Scoop—and the first APTA meeting.

The surprise Christmas party given to us by the faculty—and Christmas vacation.

Looking forward with mixed emotions to Gross Anatomy--so much work to do!

The ending of courses and starting of new ones.

And, finally, the coming of June and the ending of half of our course—saying good-bye to the Seniors, wishing them luck, and starting out where they had begun the year before.

dumerous memos, pamphlets, thick and thin books, and almost insurmountable problems abound within the confines of the small desk. These persons are the unsung and the often unheralded members of the health team. Through the efforts of efficient administration, the lives of both patient and personnel are affected and thereby ultimately bettered.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

IN 1947, the Virginia Hospital Association requested the Medical College of Virginia to establish a course of formal training in the field of Hospital Administration. The advance of health care and especially the remarkable increase in the number of hospitals in the United States with their corresponding investment of community resources required a more consistent application of sound business and general management practices. Largely through the untiring efforts of Mr. Charles P. Cardwell, Jr., Director of the Hospital Division of the Medical College of Virginia, the first classes began on January 1, 1950.

In the beginning, the course had two phases consisting of six months intensive classroom work followed by a one year residency in one or more affiliated hospitals where practical experience was gained. Upon successful completion of this program, a certificate in Hospital Administration was awarded.

The course grew in stature and usefulness and was approved in 1952 as a degree course by the new Medical College of Virginia Board of Visitors. The school's first full time director was Dr. Joseph K. Owen, who further enhanced its growth. The current director, Mr. Robert S. Hudgens has served the field of Hospital Administration long and well and now lends his knowledge and efforts to the continued progression of the school. At present, the school of Hospital Administration is an accredited graduate school conferring a master of Hospital Administration degree after successful completion of the nine months' academic phase, the writing of an acceptable master's degree thesis and a twelve months' residency in an approved hospital.

Jest tubes, slides, microscopes, needles, tourniquets and lab slips - - - all these and many more are the tools of the medical technologists. The results of their findings stamped on a tiny slip of paper may confirm or disprove a tentative diagnosis. Their work, of necessity, permits no errors.

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY

DEDICATION

We, the 1958 Graduating Class of the School of Medical Technology, dedicate our portion of the yearbook to Miss Barbara Straw who has for three years dedicated a large portion of her time to the teaching and practical training of many students. Her cheery laughter as well as her understanding qualities have been felt by all with whom she has been associated.

CLASS OFFICERS

OUR small group of six descended upon the School of Medical Technology in March of 1957. Even though we are small in number, we feel our work has weighed heavily in many important decisions.

The September Class came in with a grand total of nineteen members, full of eager spirits. In addition to a new class, the school also acquired a new instructor, Miss Lena Thomas, from Pennsylvania.

Our first undertaking was facing the patients with a cherry smile and saying, "We have to draw some blood." Meanwhile, back at the school, lectures were flowing in one ear and lab procedures in the other. Sometimes we doubted seriously if either stayed in the proper ear. Hematology, Urinalysis, Blood Banking, Serology, Chemistry—just to name a few—are representative courses studied in the one year training program at M. C. V.

To liven up the social life, we had a gay Christmas Party at the home of one of the members. Although we are not raving beauties, we found ourselves constantly in front of Dr. Santos's camera.

Upon the completion of our training, it is our desire to carry out the aims and responsibilities of our profession to the best of our ability.

DIETETIC INTERNS

THE Medical College of Virginia Hospital offers a one-year course in hospital dietetics to young women who have a B.S. degree from an accredited college or university and who can meet certain specific course requirements. The course is approved by the American Dietetic Association and, upon completion, interns are eligible for membership in the Association and may hold positions in Class "A" hospitals in the capacity of administrative, therapeutic, clinic, or teaching dietitian.

Training is begun in September of each year and students are housed in the Frances Helen Zeigler House, one of the college dormitories. During training students receive 113 hours of lecture work, as well as practical experience in the various units. Instruction is given under the supervision of graduate dictitians in the Department of Dicteties.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, dietetic interns are granted a certificate from the Hospital Division, and are eligible for membership in the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association.

STUDENT COUNCIL

THE Student Council represents the student government within the Medical College of Virginia. Among the major functions of the Council are the accurate interpretations of the Constitution and Honor System, wise disbursement of Student Body funds, and supervision of school elections.

Through the work of the Student Council during the past year, we feel that we have become a better united student body.

This year the student funds were distributed among the X-RAY, the Athletic Association, the student division of our college paper, The Medicaran, student activities, choral group and administration.

The Student Council has proved very capable in maintaining the student government at a high level and in making for a better Medical College of Virginia throughout this year.

THE Honor System is a system of self-government whereby the students themselves climinate from their body those who fail to deport themselves as honorable men or women in all of their college matters. It is the duty of the Honor Council to try all cases considered infringements of our Honor Code. Each class elects two members to the Honor Council.

We are proud that the ideals of sound government, that the proper distribution of power and responsibility, and that the triumph of right are operating within the structure of our organizations. We have practiced and upheld these principles of democratic government and living—striving always to improve and progress in our campus activities, LIVING BETTER AS OUR KNOWLEDGE INCREASES.

IN 1913, the first X-Ray was presented to the student body of the Medical College of Virginia. Throughout the years, this annual publication has given the students something concrete to which they can turn in their hours of reminiscing.

The annual serves as a valuable medium in uniting the various schools here at the college, for the staff is open to all students. An X-RAY representative is appointed for each class of each year.

The X-RAY is governed by the students through the Board of Publications which elects the Editor-in-Chief and the Business Manager.

Miss Thelma Vain Hoke has served as advisor during this session.

THE CANTERBURY ASSOCIATION

The Canterbury Association this year has held its meetings each Sunday evening at the home of Reverend A. R. Merrix, Rector of the Monumental Church.

The Virginia Canterbury Association conferences were held at Roslyn, which is the conference center for the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia.

LAENNEC SOCIETY

The Laennec Society is named for Rene Laennec, inventor of the stethoscope and a man who gave classic descriptions of many intrathoracic diseases. This society was founded as an organization to bring together Catholic students, interns, and residents for discussion of the moral and spiritual aspects of practice in medicine and allied fields.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church at work on the campus at M. C. V.—It is a nation-wide organization which endeavors to provide for the spiritual and social needs of students.—The meetings, held every Sunday night at Broad Street Methodist Church, consist of a fellowship hour and program.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is a youth organization for Baptist students in institutions of learning. It provides a full, well-rounded program of social and religious activities.

The major aim and ambition of the Baptist Student Union is to have a Christ-centered program which will lead students into active church life.

THE Medical College of Virginia branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, with directors and a paid secretary, was organized in 1916. Mr. Mimms Lee, who was then State Y. M. C. A. secretary, was very influential in helping a group to get it started. The following have served as MCV secretaries: Mr. Phil B. Trigg, Mr. Walter C. Cralle, and Mr. Earl T. Sullenger. In September, 1923, our present secretary, Mr. Jonah L. Larrick, was appointed.

For over thirty years, Mr. Larrick has rendered invaluable services to the student body through his able direction of the college athletic program. To him the students are indeed indebted for his constant enthusiasm and inspiration and for his capable co-ordinating of student affairs.

VIRGINIA PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION MEDICAL COLLEGE OF VIRGINIA STUDENT BRANCH

THE Student Branch of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association was organized in the spring of 1955, through the efforts of many students who realized the need for a link between the students of pharmacy and the practicing pharmacists throughout the state.

It is the aim of the Student Branch to better prepare future pharmacists by bringing them in closer contact with the active men in pharmacy. The association hopes that by having programs led by professional men in the state, many of the problems that the beginning pharmacists meet can be solved through the experiences of the speakers.

dances all become our fondest memories of college life. Companionship, good sportsmanship, and teamwork become integrated into our beings. ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE Athletic Association was organized in 1923, with its prime aim to create within the school a means of relaxation, exercise and diversion and to encourage competitive spirit for the schools connected with the Medical College of Virginia. A complete schedule of intercollegiate play is maintained for men's basketball and tennis and girls' basketball. It also supervises intramural basketball, softball, baseball, ping pong, and has made available student membership at the Glenwood Country Club.

Dr. William Parker, Graduate Manager since 1924, provides the leadership and guidance for the association. Much of the success attained during the past twenty-nine years is attributed to the efforts of our leader and friend, Jonah L. Larrick (better known as "Pop Larrick"), who has worked tirelessly in student activities and interests.

CHRISTMAS QUEEN

"Winter Fantasy"

Each Christmas season M.C.V. students express their joy with many social events. There are fraternity and dormitory parties, caroling and the annual formal dance for the college student body, sponsored by the students in the School of Nursing. This special event, with its Christmas theme, is highlighted by the crowning of the queen selected by popular vote of the students. December 12, 1957, marked the date for the occasion this school year.

solitary lamp burning late at night ... two weary eyes endeavoring to discern truth from fine print in a short time in order that he might better serve humanity ... a voice rising in justified protest against or praise for an existing rule of an organization ... people from varying backgrounds and different schools working together in their scarce spare time for the advancement of a project or the betterment of a situation ... scholarship and leadership go not unrewarded.

ALPHA SIGMA CHI, founded at the Medical College of Virginia in 1938, is an honorary society organized to serve the college and student body and to grant recognition to those who by meeting high standards of leadership, scholarship, and character have demonstrated ability and willingness to play roles in carrying on student activities.

Members are chosen from the Schools of Medicine. Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Xursing. An honorary member is chosen annually from among the faculty.

Prime purposes of the society are to provide an organization with lofty ideals entirely above smallness, politics, or personal favoritism and to create a spirit of fellowship and co-operation among students in the four schools.

ALPHA OMEGA ALPHA, Honorary Medical Society, was founded by William W. Root at the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois in 1902. The Beta Chapter of Virginia, known as the Brown-Sequard Chapter, was organized at the Medical College of Virginia in 1940 under the counselorship of Dr. William B. Porter.

Selection to membership is based upon the qualities of scholarship in the broad sense, which connotes continuous industry, effectiveness in method of work, facility in correlating facts, and an intellectual grasp that permits the application of information to new problems.

ut of genuine brotherhood with all the resulting qualities that produce deeper friendships comes a happier life. Such is the goal of fraternities. These organizations, no matter how diversified the activities, unite persons by intangible and sometimes unexplainable bonds --- bonds of comradeship, loyalty, truth and honor.

PSI OMEGA, with 26,000 living members and seventy-eight undergraduate and graduate chapters, is Dentistry's largest fraternity. Founded in 1892, at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Psi Omega's growth in its field has been second only to the American Dental Association. Advancement of dentistry and fellowship are but two of Psi Omega's objectives.
